

Legal Notice

Scope

You are currently viewing the official website of Rentalp, related to C.T. Creative Technologies SA.

The principles outlined below also apply analogously to other information provided to clients, such as newsletters. The terms of use for the portal apply to all sites within the group.

Special provisions governing other websites belonging to companies that use C.T. Creative Technologies SA's resources and have legal personality remain expressly reserved. The principles concerning the use of this portal may be modified at any time with legal effect.

Intellectual Property and Other Rights

C.T. Creative Technologies SA is the owner and operator of this portal.

The trademarks, names, titles, logos, photos, designs, texts, and other elements displayed on the site are all the property of legally independent companies within the group or their contractual partners. Displaying, downloading, or copying pages from the site does not grant any rights (such as usage rights or intellectual property rights).

Reproduction (in whole or in part), transmission (electronically or by other means), modification, networking, or use of the portal for publication or commercial purposes is prohibited without prior written consent.

Liability Exclusion

C.T. Creative Technologies SA disclaims all liability (including in cases of negligence) that may arise from accessing, the inability to access, or the use of all or part of the site. Access to and use of the portal are not guaranteed.

The portal contains links to third-party sites that are neither operated nor monitored by C.T. Creative Technologies SA. Consequently, C.T. Creative Technologies SA assumes no responsibility for their content.

This disclaimer also applies to the compliance of these linked site operators with legal data protection regulations.

Data Transfer via the Internet

Since the Internet is an open network accessible to anyone, it cannot provide a secure environment. Even though individual data packets are generally transmitted in encrypted form, this does not apply to either the sender or the recipient.

Furthermore, even if both sender and recipient are located in Switzerland, data may pass through foreign countries with lower data protection standards than Switzerland.

Therefore, C.T. Creative Technologies SA disclaims any liability for the security of data transmitted via the Internet.

Collection and Use of Information

When a visitor accesses the portal, various data are recorded (e.g., the visitor's IP address, date and time of access, name of the requested file, etc.).

Customer information and data are necessary for order management and business relations. C.T. Creative Technologies SA may inform its customers via email about software updates or new services.

C.T. Creative Technologies SA complies with Swiss data protection laws and all related regulations when collecting, processing, and using personal data. Customer data collected from orders is used exclusively for internal statistical purposes. No information is shared with other companies.

Any customer information accessed by C.T. Creative Technologies SA due to technical interventions, data corrections, or mandate adjustments is treated confidentially and is only accessible to the employees responsible for the task.

All employees who, due to their work with C.T. Creative Technologies SA, have access to customer data are obliged to treat it confidentially and not to share or disclose it to third parties.

Once the service is provided, customer data is stored in the database of the agency that published the listing. The client acknowledges and approves this use of their data.

Cookies

Accessing the portal results in the storage of a small file (called a "cookie") in the visitor's computer memory. This file is used exclusively for anonymous statistical analysis of the number of visits.

Data Security

The security of stored personal data is guaranteed.
